MUSSOLINI ACTIVE
LAWYERS VOTE
SUGAR CHEAP

By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

IT IS HOT IN ROME and Mussolini sets a good example, appearing in public wearing a suit of white cotton, a soft collar, white canvas shoes made of cotton, a white yachting cap also of cotton.

If men here would adopt the idea, wearing cotton in summer, they would be more comfortable and the cotton farmers more prosperous.

For those who can't afford too much "dry cleaning," the cotton suits could be dyed gray, brown, black.

LAWYERS GATHERED at the solemn bar association meeting decided to poll the bar of the country and learn what it thinks of prohibition.

Some lawyers objected; say a "lack of propriety" in such a poll. But a vote, 10 to 1, decides to ask lawyers, "Is prohibition a success or a failure, a blessing or a curse?"

Since the laws are made 99 per cent by lawyers and interpreted 100 per cent by other lawyers on the bench the lawyers' opinion is important.

IT IS DIFFICULT TO THINK OF anything in the way of murderous violence that our prohibition-boogie-racketeer crime wave has not produced. But somebody in Portland, Me., thought of something new. This person, unknown, overcame Policeman Michael T. Connelly, tied his wrists together with his own handcuffs, threw him in the water and drowned him.

The police are looking for a former middleweight boxing champion, suspected of the crime.

REFINED SUGAR has dropped to the lowest price "for all time," 4.44 cents a pound.

Apples are cheap.

Take apples not quite ripe, boil them, let the juice drip from a bag, then squeeze the bag. Make apple jelly, one cup of sugar to one cup of apple juice, and you will have through the winter an excellent nourishing and cheerful food for your children. That jelly, on bread, with fresh butter under the jelly, is a food almost complete. Vitamins ad all.

OLIVER MOORE, a Negro, 29, was accused of attacking two white girls. The sheriff jailed him, a mob broke into the prison, "Moore walked sullenly down the aisle toward them."

They took him to his home, that the "lesson might be impressed on the neighbors," hanged him to a tree, riddled his body with bullets.

Men in the north will pass judgment on that incident promptly. Some might modify the judgment if they happened to be the father of girls five and seven years old, similarly treated.

CLEVELAND STARTS War On Hoodlums

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—The scheme of Cleveland's new acting chief of police George J. Matowitz for hounding gangsters and hoodlums from the city was in operation today.

Fourteen men, four of whom appeared on the list of 65 marked for arrest whenever they are seen, were booked for investigation "as suspected racketeers." They will be held indefinitely and hauled about the city to every precinct station to be placed in "line-ups" so their faces will be familiar to every patrolman and detective on the force. If they obtain their release, they will be re-arrested Matowitz declared.

MILITARY REVOLT THREATENS PERU

Serious Trouble Comes As Troops Take Over Large City

LIMA, PERU, Aug. 23.—A serious military revolt in Southern Peru today threatened the administration of President Augusto B. Leguia.

The garrison at Arequipa was at the helm of the movement. Revolting under the leadership of officers the garrison arrested the civil and military chiefs of the department and today was in complete control there.

The government was said officially to be taking appropriate steps. There were reports that these involved sending of a fleet to Mollendo port, nearby to Arequipa and in moving aircraft against the city itself.

Mollendo, which is at the end of the railroad which runs from Lake Titicaca, on the Bolivian border, through Arequipa, to the Pacific coast, was closed by official order both to national and foreign commercial vessels. Arequipa was closed also to commercial airships.

A commercial plane arriving from Arequipa, brought the first word to Lima. Rumors gained ground that not only had Arequipa fallen to the rebels but that other southern places were in their hands.

President Leguia reached the Peruvian presidency on July 4, 1919. By a coup d'etat, and established a government which has been a model of strength in meeting opposition throughout South America. He was re-inaugurated in 1924 and in 1929, to hold office until 1935.

Columbiana Prisoner On Glass, Nail Diet

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—Rushed to the Ohio penitentiary hospital when he developed a severe stomach pain, Fred Sykes, 25, had made a diet of small pieces of glass, small nails, pins and paper clips.

Sykes, a prisoner from Columbiana county is believed by doctors at the hospital to have been on the glass-metal diet for several days previous to the development of the pain. The physicians believe he will recover.

He is serving a sentence of one to 15 years in the penitentiary for assault to kill.

While an inmate of the Columbiana county jail at Lisbon, Sykes attempted to end his own life by drinking bug exterminator and had a narrow escape from death.

He stated, when taken to the pen hospital that "I'd rather die than stay in jail."

OHIO TEMPLARS PLAN CONCLAVE IN SEPTEMBER

Salem Knights Will Join Others In District To Attend As Unit

BAND WILL LEAD THIS DELEGATION

Parade To Be Big Event Of Second Day; Cleveland Is Host

At a meeting of Knights Templar commanders of the 12th district at Alliance, arrangements were made to go as a district group to the 88th grand convocation of knights of Ohio, to be held Sept. 23, 24 and 25 in Cleveland.

Representing Salem at the Alliance meeting were Frank J. Eckstein, district commander, and J. Howard Sinclair, commander of Salem commandery No. 42.

Accompanying the district delegation of knights and their ladies will be a 40-piece band. Headquarters will be at the Statler hotel, where rooms will be open for rest periods. Arrangements also are being made for parking space for autos driven by the 12th district delegation.

Commanderies of this district will appear in the parade Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 24, as one unit.

Approximately 9,000 uniformed Knights Templar, with over forty different bands, will form a procession that will require three hours to pass a given point. At the conclusion of the first part of the parade all the bands will be combined into one huge organization and all the Knights will be assembled into a massed formation thirty knights abreast.

All colors and standards of the 79 commanderies of the state will be grouped at the head of the formation followed immediately by a group of knights forming a passion cross with a second group forming a triangle. Then, to the stirring and inspiring strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers" played by all the bands in unison, the magnificent massed formation will pass in front of the reviewing stand.

Entertainment features Wednesday evening. Cleveland's great public auditorium will be the scene of the grand ball. The principal feature of this occasion will be a beautiful and brilliant exhibition drill of the world-famous team of Detroit Commandery No. 1, who will be special guests of the Ohio knights.

MANSFIELD, Aug. 23.—An airplane reported to have fallen in the swamps and underbrush near Amoy, four miles northwest of here, was being hunted today.

Although a party of 50 men searched several hours and three airplanes flew low over the territory yesterday without finding any wreckage, Sheriff Aaron Davis organized a second search today. He said it was possible for wreckage to be concealed in some dense undergrowth.

A reporter on the Pennsylvania railroad reported seeing the wreckage when his train arrived here yesterday. The porter, Alexander J. Bradley, said passengers also saw the orange wing of a plane.

GERMAN FLIERS HEADED ACROSS NORTH ATLANTIC

Believe Plane Bound For United States After Mystery Flight

COPENHAGEN, DENMARK, Aug. 23.—Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau, German aviator, and three companions, today were at Lyngby, Greenland, presumably on their way to the United States, after a flight from Reykjavik, Iceland.

Greenland authorities reported the fliers, arrival there yesterday afternoon after several hours of mystery as to their course after they left Reykjavik, avowedly going to Germany but actually heading in the opposite direction.

Radio message from the plane indicated a westerly rather than easterly flight, and information later said the plane landed at Lyngby. The trip was about 1,000 miles, over water most of the way, and required about 11 hours flying.

The four airmen have the same Dornier Wal flying boat that brought Roald Amundsen and his companions back from their unsuccessful attempt to reach the North Pole in 1925. Besides Von Gronau, they are: Frank Hack, mechanic; Herr Albrecht, wireless operator; and an aviation student named Zimmer.

LISBON SUED IN SEWAGE ACTION

Permanent Restraining Order In Case Asked; Dangerous Germs Present, Claim

LISBON, Aug. 23.—A permanent restraining order is sought in addition to $2,000 damages against the village of Lisbon in a petition filed in common pleas court by George A. Lipe.

The action is expected to result in early action on the part of the village council in considering plans for the erection of a municipal disposal plant.

It is stated in the petition that for a number of years Milliste run, near the property of Lipe was clear and free from odors, but since sewage from East Lincoln Way, East Chestnut street and Lee avenue has been flowing into the stream, the stream and atmosphere is "impregnated with dangerous germs."

Lipe has contended that he has discussed the condition of this stream with the village council at different times during the last few years, but no definite action has been taken to correct the situation.

RAINS FAIL TO BRING RELIEF FROM DROUGHT

Observer States More Is Needed Before Roots Will Be Affected

Although the heaviest rain since July fell in Salem and vicinity this morning little relief was afforded crops over the county, according to L. H. Copeland, government weather observer at Millport. The instruments at Millport recorded 45 inches rainfall at noon today while those at the sewage treatment plant here showed 58 inches.

"Rain today was merely a surface rain," Copeland stated. "It will take at least two inches to reach the roots and do any good to crops in this county."

Early potatoes and corn have been the worst hit by the drought with pastures in the county parched and stream beds dry in many cases.

The Ohio weather bureau gives but little hopes for more rain as predictions for Sunday are that fair weather will prevail.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN NATION AT TWO PER CENT

Census Completed Shows 2,508,151 Out Of Work In April

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—A total of 2,508,151 able-bodied Americans, comprising two percent of the country's total population, were listed today the census bureau as unemployed last April and looking for work.

The total was announced on the basis of preliminary returns from every section of the country. The bureau explained that six other classes of unemployed were not included in the present total, but added those "without a job, able to work and looking for a job" unquestionably constituted the bulk of those to be listed as unemployed.

Because tabulations have not been completed on the number of persons now gainfully employed a definite comparison was not available. The bureau estimated, however, employed would approximate 40 per cent of the total population. This would bring the number idle to approximately five per cent of the normally employed population.

By states, the percentage of job seekers ranged from 0.5 in South Dakota and Mississippi to 3.2 in Rhode Island and New Jersey and 3.3 in Michigan.

The other classes to be covered by the unemployment census include those having jobs but laid off without pay; persons unable to work; those having jobs and voluntarily idle, and vacationists and others drawing pay but not at work.

HIGHWAY AGAIN IN COURT ACTION

Proceedings Filed For Money On Valley-Salem Road Project By Kensington Man

LISBON, Aug. 23.—Attachment proceedings have been entered in common pleas court by Frank L. Cox of Kensington to recover $5,700 for work and labor performed on the construction of the Valley-Salem road, with County Auditor E. W. Walker being named as garnishee.

The petition names the Union Indemnity Co. of New York and New Orleans as party defendant and Charles S. Biery of Alliance as defendant.

The original contract for the grading and drainage structures on this road was awarded to Dennison & Sturgis Co. of Youngstown.

The county commissioners declared the company in default, and caused the surety interest to assume the contract. The latter then employed Biery to complete the grading project. The bridges and culverts on this road were built by Cox.

This action is the third attachment proceedings that has been filed against Biery and the surety interest.

Grading on this new highway will be finished very shortly, and the highway is to be given a concrete surface this fall.

SETS DAY FOR HEARING CASE ON EXTENSION

City Solicitor In Action To Block Referendum On Limit Change

PROJECT IN COURT FOR SECOND TIME

City Auditor Can Not File Papers With Election Board

A temporary restraining order against the certification of petitions for a referendum vote on the extension of Salem corporation limits was granted in Lisbon by Judge W. Frank Lones of the county common pleas court Friday afternoon.

Judge Lones granted the order on petition of City Solicitor Cecil K. Scott and set the date for a hearing to determine whether a permanent injunction shall be issued for 1 p. m. Monday, September 8.

The temporary order restrains City Auditor Helen R. Woerther from submitting petitions circulated by opponents to the extension of this city's limits with the county election board in East Liverpool.

Was To File Today

Miss Woerther had intended to file the petitions, containing 719 signatures, with the election board today, the ten-day period during which the papers must be kept in her office for public inspection, having expired at midnight yesterday. The petitions were filed with her by Perry township residents on Tuesday, August 12.

The filing of the matter before Judge Lones marks the extension project's second appearance in the common pleas court. Judge Lones refused to grant a permanent injunction sought by opponents of the extension and ruled that the annexation of the territory as planned by the city will prove beneficial to both township and city residents when the matter was first taken into his jurisdiction.

Judge Lones granted the temporary order after Scott alleged, in petitions asking the injunction, that proceedings gone through by township residents in the circulation of the referendum petitions were irregular, making the action taken by them null and void. He also submitted other reasons why the court should refuse to permit the auditor to certify the petitions with the election board.

CANDIDATES TO ABIDE BY VOTE

Wet-Dry Issue In State Up For Referendum On November 4

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 23.—The prohibition issue in the Illinois senatorial campaign was clearly defined today with Ruth Hanna McCormick, the Republican nominee, pledged to abide by the voters' decision in a referendum and James Hamilton Lewis, the Democratic candidate standing on an out and out "wet" platform.

Mrs. McCormick, who had always been considered a dry announced at the Republican state convention yesterday that she stands ready to obey the mandate of the voters in the triple referendum on prohibition to be decided Nov. 4, the same day as the senatorial election.

Her speech followed the announcement of the state G. O. P. platform containing a prohibition plank almost identical with Mrs. McCormick's stand. The plank which pledged Republican representatives in congress to carry out the will of their districts, was considered a compromise between the wet and dry factions in the party.

The Democrats, meeting Wednesday, followed the lead of their standard bearer, former Senator Lewis, in favoring repeal of all prohibition legislation.

Blow To Wales

TAHOE TAVERN, CAL., Aug. 23.—Well the poor Duchess of York's baby arrived, nothing but a girl. I tell you there is an awful lot expected of you when you marry royalty. That will be a terrible blow to the Prince of Wales, for he has been having such a good time.

Well if he is really in the market for a wife, right here where we are at Reno are two thousand of 'em getting ready to meet all comers.

If they can't get a royal male heir over there any other way, we will loan 'em Lindy's baby. My old friend Henry Mencken is getting married, so we will be all set here.

Yours,

Will Rogers

PECULIAR TO THE ENGLISH

GLAMIS, SCOTLAND, Aug. 21—A second baby girl, instead of the hoped-for boy, was born tonight to the Duchess of York, only daughter-in-law of King George and Queen Mary, at the ancient Glamis castle, seat of the Earls of Strathmore.

One can almost hear the wind whistle through the turrets, can almost sense the majesty of Glamis Castle, the musty smell of long, stone floored corridors, rain beating on the windows. It was a great assignment for newspapermen to cover Britain's most recent royal birth. But the first royal baby to be born in Scotland for 300 years was a girl. That was a disappointment to the royal family, to Englishmen and Scotchmen. Perhaps the Prince of Wales will marry now, will be blessed with a son. The British do not relish the prospect of a woman ruler.

What is it all about anyway? What is this king business, as a democracy—enthusiastic American might put it in a contemptuous mood? On the same day that the Duchess of York's second daughter's birth is announced, thereby focusing the attention of the world on England's royal family, a most satisfactory explanation is given of kingship by an English civil servant who writes under the name of Geoffrey Layman. His explanation appears in the current issue of Harper's magazine.

The institution of monarchy is viewed by Americans in the light of political science; by the British as an emotion which has its roots in the history and experience of their forefathers. That is the reason that Americans find it hard to understand the intense interest which Britishers have just manifested for the birth of a royal baby. To the American, monarchy is a clear anomaly in this democratic age, a thing to be viewed askance. To the Britisher, on the other hand, it is an institution made unattainable by years of existence.

There is a further fault in the American viewpoint. That is failure to distinguish between the king and the crown, that is to say, between the monarch as a person and the monarchy as an institution. In the United States, the President, who is the most powerful monarch in the world, acts as a person, never as an institution. Americans can not understand, therefore, that monarchy and liberty can exist side by side, but it can and does in Great Britain where the king acts only as an institution.

In Great Britain power is derived from the crown, but transferred to the people for exercise; in the United States, power is derived from the people and transferred for exercise to an elective officer serving a prescribed time. The average Englishman would point out that it is the exercise of power and not the origin of power that is the criterion of liberty.

The universal capacity for worship in men is expressed in two forms by the English—for crown, described as a personification of the abstract, and the king, a deification of the individual. Writer Layman says:

"The king, then, to us is the state, made visible to our eyes; and when we say that we believe in kings, we are saying in truth, no more than we believe in ordered government and that we share with the vast majority of our fellow mortals that not ignoble instinct, which it is becoming the fashion to decry, called patriotism."

The author explains further that the king embodies to Britishers the authority and essence of the state more today than he did in former times because the royal power has ceased to be personal and has become impersonal. The first four

Georges and William IV exercised as men the powers which the present king, George V, exercises only in theory. Consequently, the former were judged as men among men. King George, however, holds himself aloof.

And those, to force a conclusion to a most informative article, are some of the reasons why the British empire and those other parts of the world which have dealings with the empire have waited a month for the birth of a royal baby at Glamis Castle.

A DECISION TO MAKE

It is about this time of the year that thousands of young men and women make an important decision. Will they go back to school or will they go to work?

How they wish they could look into the future a few years and see how their decision will affect their lives! If they could they might see these things:

Forty is the age which has been established as the dividing line between ascending efficiency and descending efficiency in many industries. However, for the man approaching 40 years and for the man who has passed it there need be no more concern over his job than at any other age if he has prepared himself to meet the demands which will be on him then. The Better Schools league, illustrating this contention, points out that the personnel of the directorate of the United States chamber of commerce has an average of 57 years. Men who have made valuable contributions to leadership in industry and business are included in the directorate only if they show promise of continued productivity. It may be assumed, therefore, that they have passed the "dividing line" and are still going strong.

The youngest director is 40; the oldest 84. Only 15 per cent of the entire directorate are under 50 years of age. Fifty-two per cent are between the ages of 50 and 60 and 33 per cent are over 60 years of age. But the significant part of the data is this: Seventy-two per cent of the directors acquired adequate educational training as young men—training which is rated adequate in the terms of present-day standards. This is one illustration of many which might be made to convince young men they will do well to reflect seriously before deciding to quit school. There is adequate time now; there won't be so much time as the fatal dividing line is approached.

Prohibition Director Woodcock is considering putting uniforms on prohibition agents. Be sure to make them some different pattern than bell hops wear, Mr. Woodcock.

Rumania's widely discussed Carol receives $20,000 a month. That's good money for small-time three-act.

What Others Say

THE AGE OF THE SUPERLATIVE
Glibly using the expression "super-salesman" the other day, we were struck anew with the realization that this popular and typically American prefix is simply a contraction of "superlative." The dictionary tells us that "superlative" is "raised to or occupying the highest pitch, position or degree; most eminent; surpassing all others; supreme; as a man of superlative wisdom."

It might be well for the national soul if we stopped some of the egotistical insistence on the superlative quality of our men and our machines. Admittedly we are good; but are we so good that we honestly surpass every one else in everything? We should remind ourselves that "Pride goeth before a fall," and that to characterize our products with "superlative" is to exhibit a pride which has already tended toward extravagant exaggeration.

This is the tourist season. Many of our citizens have gone abroad, bearing with them that consciousness of superiority which has subjected Americans to no little criticism. If we were really as superlative in many qualities of the spirit as we acknowledge ourselves to be in commerce and industry, we might give proof of this by our supreme courtesy and consideration for the rights of others, thereby avoiding the charge that Americans are blatant, boastful, ruthless, disrespectful and many other adjectives far removed from the superlative in its flattering sense. We do not believe in false humility; but there is a proper pride which expresses itself in a decent respect for ourselves and for others.

The whole point is that our application of the abbreviation "super" has been entirely material, without extending it to those spiritual excellences implied in the meaning of the word, over which we have a tendency to be self-conscious, and so to underrate.—Detroit Free Press.

AN UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION

Highlights Of Ohio History

By J. H. GALBRAITH

Ohio's capital narrowly escaped bearing the rather awkward name of Ohio City. Interests here having succeeded in securing the location of the state capital in Columbus, felt inclined to leave to others naming of the place. It was a week after the adopting of the measure locating the state capital on the high banks of the east side of the Scioto river opposite the municipality of Franklin that the house took up the naming of the town. Some one proposed that the name should be Ohio City, and the proposal was lost by the narrow margin of 19 to 22 votes.

At this juncture the senate took up the matter of name, and it is said that Joseph Poese, a member from Franklin, suggested the name Columbus. If there was debate on it, it was not regarded as of sufficient importance to be preserved and the name was adopted in the senate without even a record vote. The house on the same day concurred.

So there is a dearth of information as to why this name was chosen, but it is probable that it was felt that the honor of having his name borne by the capital of one of the American states was a fitting one for the great discoverer.

There are nine other cities in the United States bearing the name of Columbus—all of them with but one exception, bearing the name of the discoverer being founded later than the Ohio capital. They are: Columbus, N. C.; Columbus, Ga.; Columbus, Miss.; Columbus, Ky.; Columbus, Ind.; Columbus, Kan.; Columbus, Neb.; Columbus, Col.; and Columbus, Wis.

The thrilling experience of spending a winter night in the wilderness under the beating of a heavy snow and threatened by timber wolves that fell to the lot of Mary Robinson, daughter of an early settler in Clermont county shows what hardships were to be faced by the Ohio pioneers.

She was the daughter of Charles Robinson, a Marylander, who has been attracted to Ohio by reports of the remarkable fertility of the soil and located in the township in which Batavia was established. That was in 1806.

There were few neighbors and these rendered service to each other whenever called upon, and it was possible to do it. A Mrs. Mitchell had asked Mary Robinson, who was a good horsewoman and brave as a lioness, to ride to a settlement 12 miles away on an errand. There was no road, only a blazed trail through the woods, but she had ridden it often, and when she started the colts were for fair weather. But she hardly started back when the sky became overcast and a fine snow began falling down upon her, increasing in thickness with an accompanying darkening of the sky. Soon she could no longer observe the blazed trees of the trail and dismounting to reconnoiter, she tied the horse to a sapling.

Almost immediately she was surrounded by a pack of timber wolves. She tried to reach her saddle but the horse, fearing the wolves, kicked wildly and she could not get near it. She found that the wolves were afraid of the horse and would not come close to it, so she walked round and round the tree to which it was tied, just out of reach of the wolves.

This she continued to do the whole night. With the dawn the wolves left and now being able to remount her horse she rode to her home in safety, but swooned from fatigue and fear as soon as she dismounted. She fully recovered after a few days rest.

The Stars Say

For Sunday, August 24
Sunday's horoscope holds augury of strange and eventful experiences or adventures, attended by a breaking of old constructions and long crystallized conditions. This may relate to employment, to new ventures or hidden plans or secret agreements. These should flourish, as should all steady effort in the way of industry and application.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very important year, with many opportunities in employment and in fresh ventures, following the removal of tenacious obstacles and crystallized conditions. It would be wise to push with steadfastness and diligence, as the time is auspicious, especially where secret understandings or diplomatic relations are in order.

A child born on this day may be talented, industrious and steady, and should attain to stable position through its own industry and effort, especially in lines where diplomacy or secret alliances are involved.

For Monday, August 25

Monday's astrological forecast is a very intriguing one with the orb of the secret, hidden and mysterious in the ascendant. By lunar direction, the social, domestic and affectional relations will be under active stimulus, while in the business realm those things relating to close corporations, mergers, combines and secret orders and agreements should be most active and progressive. The attitude may include toward Utopian or idealistic plans.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of singular or unique experiences or adventures. Personal affairs may be uppermost, but business in association with corporations, secret bodies or diplomatic missions may flourish.

A child born on this day may have a tendency toward the unusual, peculiar, marvelous or mystical, in business as well as social relations. It may be artistic or idealistic in its expressions and adventures.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Welfare Work Beneficial
A wonderful work is being done by the Children's Welfare Federation of New York City. It is undertaking the task of improving the condition and saving the lives of thousands of mothers and babies.

There has been launched a campaign to raise $100,000 to carry on this important work. It is to be hoped that generous response will be made on the part of the public.

The recent report of the executive committee of the Federation brings the cheerful news of considerable improvement in the infant death rate since 1912. In 1912, 105 infants died out of every 1,000 born. In 1929 there were 58 infant deaths out of every 1,000 born.

This decrease in the infant death rate is due to the special baby health work it has been shown that at least half of these infant deaths could be prevented by proper maternity care.

The news concerning maternity mortality is not so encouraging. It is a startling fact that today the death rate from childbirth among the mothers of infants is on an average of about one out of every 200. There is not need for this high death rate. Proper care at the proper time would mean life to these mothers.

The Federation reports that the needs of more than 52,000 mothers and children were attended to by the federation last year. More than 9,000 mothers were given nursing care; 20,000 babies were placed in baby health stations and some 4,000 were placed in convalescent hospitals, day nurseries and boarding homes.

One of the most valuable services rendered by the Federation is that of supplying milk from nursing mothers for sick and premature infants. Five hundred sick and premature babies, whose own mothers could not give them food, and who would have died but for the care by the Federation bureau, were supplied with mother's milk last year.

These noble citizens who are working to save the lives of thousands of mothers and babies in the great city. We owe it to them, and to the mothers and babies who are struggling to live, the help they need so much. No matter where we live we should be generous in giving to this splendid work in our respective communities.

Such a fund as this campaign

Twenty Years Ago

(Issue of Aug. 23, 1910)

East Palestine—This city is in the throes of a serious water famine. The once beautiful lawns in the residence districts are burned a sickly brown. An investigation proves that the scarcity is due, not so much to the intense drought, as to the inadequacy of a fast growing town. More wells will be sunk.

Salem relatives are expressing some anxiety for the safety of Mrs. Anna Grace and her son, Charles, and his wife, who are located at Avery, Idaho, in the midst of the great forest fires, which have been devastating that section, and killing many of the residents. Mrs. Grace, is a sister-in-law of C. F. Lease.

Helena, Mont.—Only a heavy rain will stay the progress of forest fires, which are the worst ever known.

In the last five years about 50 lives have been lost in France in submarine boat disasters.

Girls of "The Peach Basket" camp at the Salem Country club, west of the city, have returned to town. They were Misses Mary and Martha Bensall, Esther and Mary Silver, Mabel and Edna Vaughn, Rachel Church, Virginia Whinnery, Laura Cooper, Mary Lee Boyle, Esther Clark, Salem, and Nellie Platt, of New Brighton, Pa.

Day by Day

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—New York has an army of small salaried men who, becoming widowers, assume housekeeping burdens—holding down jobs and rearing children. Among social workers they are "male mothers" and are rich legends of their fortitude.

Their devotion is so great they refuse to permit offspring to be taken to charitable homes. They try to work as near as possible so they can run in at every opportune moment and see how household affairs progress.

Recently in a tenement fire, the bodies of a father and six girls, the eldest nine, were found in the squalid two-room flat. He was a night watchman and for four years struggled heroically to keep his brood intact, sacrificing all in the attempt.

In such families the eldest becomes head of the house during the absence of the father. Sometimes it is a boy and sometimes a girl. They offer a tragic maturity, although merely children.

The "male mother" is up at dawn to get breakfast, helps children dress and start them to school. He makes beds, sweeps and does other chores before going to his job. He returns to cook lunch and is home at dinner.

A social worker tells of one father who has not been out of his little flat after 7 at night in six years. In that time, too, he has not had a vacation, because vacations at his factory are without pay.

In the slums, neighboring women try to give a motherly touch to such homes, but are so work-worn themselves results are scant. A pair of stage dancing twins were brought up by a "male father," but he passed on before they won recognition.

A gentleman and wife have for six years taken an elevator in their apartment house for the street at about the same time. About five years ago they noticed if they got into a certain elevator at a certain time it was empty. A few minutes before or after it would be likely half filled or filled. Every now and then as an experiment they would try out the "empty hour" and the result never differed. They are moving but they've been a long time at it. I would be about in Morocco by now.

Samuel Hoffenstein sums up the gold digger in two lines in a new book of verse:
She walks in beauty, like the night
And so she should, the parasite.

Incidentally, Hoffenstein is a poet to live to live elegantly off book royalties. He resigned a well-paying post press agent for Al Woods to experiment. His two volumes since then, "Poems in Praise of Practically Nothing" and "Year In, You're Out," have reached the sale of many best selling novels. Unlike the popular picture of the poet with seedy raiment, long hair and flowing ink, Hoffenstein might model for a clothing ad. He swings a cane, the duke.

Berton Bruley, too, is a Brummell hard save for an ancient hat with a drooping brim that continues to withstand the hoots of friends.

Of all poets, Harry Kemp in his Village days looked the minnesinger. He had had wrinkles of hunger and could be an exuberant playboy or dreamy romanticist. He would suddenly vanish like a puff of wind and return in the same manner. Temperamentally and financially, he is the true poet.

From a magazine article on eating: "The gourmand has a 7th gastronomic sense. A savory dish to him is an emotional poem—an exquisite romance."
Imagine having an affair with a plate of tripe!

What Makes the Traveler Comfortable?

Large and expensive looking baskets aren't necessarily the best voyage gifts that the traveler most desires. Why is it that big baskets of fancy foods are the thing to send people who go on boats where they will eat more meals and more food than usual, anyway? Not that these things are unwelcome. They are cheerful and endearing reminders of loving friends.

Still there are many other things that the traveler would find a comfort on a voyage, and a box of useful articles which the busy departing one may have forgotten to include in her luggage may prove a godsend on the trip. And many of these things can be assembled piece by piece, indicating real thought and consideration, and not be as costly as a ribboned confectionery creation.

Items of clothing—like a small case of folding rubbers for wet days, collapsible umbrella that will fit neatly into a small suitcase, extra pajama sets, folding coat-hangers, are a few items helpful to the traveler. Toilet articles that take up small space, little compact sewing kits, folding cushions, folding cups, and for the smoker there are many articles taking small space that will help to drive away tedium occasionally—leather cases containing cigarette holders that will protect them from being crushed) and nests of little metal ash trays.

Some of the bon voyage baskets now made by specialists contain almost everything for the traveler's comfort—and a home-made basket can be prepared even more expertly, since the giver knows the taste to be pleased. The right kind of a pleasant book or two, perhaps a bridge set, smoking supplies, writing equipment, a few assorted magazines, a sewing kit, for emergency repairs, a set of knife, fork and spoon if the basket contains edibles. And instead of packing it with sweets exclusively, there might be included some more pungent articles if the recipient's taste runs that way—pickles, or cheese, or spicy fish, or some snack which will touch the right spot on a long journey.

A bottle or two of concentrated fruit juice may be very refreshing, if there's a long train journey and only water is available en route.

A simple but useful device for the traveler who must do a bit of laundering as she goes, is the collapsible clothes hanger with little loops fastened on and clamps at the end of each. On this small items like hose, handkerchiefs and lingerie may be fastened and hung overnight to dry after washing.

Safety First in the Home

While fall decorations are being planned for the home it might be a good time to include a few safeguards against accident. And slipping seems to be one of the most common of home catastrophes. Skating on thin ice seems to result in not nearly so many mishaps as following the ordinary routine of home—where no provision is made for protection.

Highly polished floors are beautiful to look at delightful to dance on, but they need covering for ordinary use. Rugs can be fastened firmly with some of the patented rug weights now on the market, and thus protect the unwary from sliding along the floor with an easily loosened rug. Of course if the rug is large enough or heavy enough it own weight will keep it in place. But many small light-weight rugs scattered around a highly polished floor may invite minor casualties.

The bathtub too has its dangers when beautifully smooth and needs some safeguard against slipping. Small rubber mats placed in the tub are an easy protection if there isn't a strong rack within arm's reach.

If there are stairs within the home they acquire careful attention as part of the season's overhauling. Adequate lighting is the first necessity. Steps should not be slippery but provide a firm and dependable grip for the feet. Handrails, too, should not be slippery even if they have a polished surface.

Steps to the cellar require most particular attention. They are so frequently made of less sturdy wood, yet may be the most tread upon in the house. The rails to cellar steps, too, need to be of smooth wood, firm, convenient as to height. A little repair work each year to these minor home furnishings might prevent needless slips and falls.

Judging from the cheerful descriptions of the new house-furnishing equipment displayed by the shops, home is the place where little work need be done. Everything saves labor. Scrubbing is one of the last arts. Cooking is automatic once started, and a lot of the jobs that once depended on elbow grease are now self-starting and self-operating. Mixing cakes, beating eggs or mayonnaise, whipping cream, freezing meat, yet may be accomplished by turning on an electric switch, if one has the proper equipment. Dustless dusters, vacuum cleaners, electric floor polishers, give better results than old-fashioned hand labor which they have displaced.

The Equipment

How simple housekeeping may be depends on how much equipment one's budget permits, and how carefully it is selected. And one experienced housewife gave a hint gleaned from her own successes and failures—buy only what is most required. Often one is fooled or tempted into purchasing a very attractive device which really isn't a good investment because it is used frequently enough. Which is a serious matter if that purchase means denying one's self a more necessary article. If a refrigerator and a washing machine are both needed and there's not enough cash for both simultaneously it waxes a firm will to fix on the less handsome but more useful article. Some of the new kitchen devices are not only useful but really decorative. If they add to the attractiveness of the kitchen, it may be a good investment to substitute them for the more ancient items, even if they haven't outlived their usefulness. A window-shopping excursion before deciding on new equipment may save the possible disappointment that comes from impulsive buying.

The best part of beauty is that which a picture cannot express.—Bacon.

Crops Discussed At Meeting Of Grange

"What Was Your Best Crop?" was discussed by Willis Zimmerman and Fletcher Glass at a meeting of Salem Grange Thursday evening at the hall, Depot road.
 Both men considered wheat their best crop. Because of the fact that the clover has been burned out by the drought, the men are of the opinion that the hay crop will be light next year.
 Mrs. Price Cope gave a talk on "Is Luck Real? Yes, to Workers." Charles Vincent used "Prosperity" for his subject.
 A question box with questions pertaining to farm life, added interest.

CARD OF THANKS
 We desire in this manner to extend many thanks to friends and neighbors for sympathy and kindness received during our recent bereavement and Rev. B. P. Angle for his consoling words also for floral offerings and autos furnished.

THE DAY In Sports

BASEBALL LESS POPULAR
LACK OF FIELD HURTS

The discussion on what sport is America's national pastime continues. Whether the distinction belongs to baseball, golf, tennis or fishing will be a matter of debate from year to year. The addict to each activity will always be a strong supporter of his favorite sport and the debate will probably never be settled.

Baseball fans point to the fact that each summer brings an increase in the throngs packed into parks throughout the country to watch teams vie for supremacy of the diamond. Football bugs have strong arguments in the fact that the gridiron sport is making progress with leaps and bounds and annually attracts millions to college and high school fields. Every line of sport has its arguments in the matter.

Irvin Cobb, American author, claims fishing is the most popular American sport. George Herman Ruth, noted for his talents in lifting baseballs out of parks into far away streets and avenues, says the game in which he makes his living will never be succeeded in popularity by another. Bobby Jones naturally favors golf and the majority of Salem fans believe football is the leading sport. Basketball has never been an outstanding sport nationally and during only one year did Salem fandon go wild over the cage racket—that in the season of 1926-27 when Robert Campbell, Walter Harsh, Lester Older, Ed Sidinger, Malcolm Rush and other stars here sent the Red and Black into fame by advancing into the semi-finals of the state tourney at Columbus.

But Babe apparently is wrong in his statements that baseball will never be replaced. That may be so in some towns but not in the average place of Salem's size. Even in Cleveland, where leagues, A, AA and AAA use to be an annual affair, has less sandlot organizations than ever before. In Salem Pete Scullion's Dunn Eden lake team has been a losing proposition, financially, all season while the Class A softball circuit is attracting crowds to Centennial park.

Why this is, it is hard to state. Here in Salem, the big reason is the lack of a playing field. Centennial park is in bad shape even for mushball and last year, when the baseball league held games there, improvement of the entire field was deemed necessary. Today youngsters have no place to play ball. So instead they go in for other lines and baseball is suffering.

Hardware Team Wins Softball Championship From Clubmen

Hitting three pitchers for a total of 21 hits, the Salem Hardware team advanced into a class all of its own in city softball competition and won the Class A championship with an easy 14-3 victory over the Kiwanis club aggregation at Centennial park Friday.

The game was a putrid affair, considering the fact that it was one of the titular series, and the winners had everything their own way. Harold England, Arnold Lutes and L. L. McCarthy took turns on the hurling slab for the losers and each performed equally well while Greenisen held the Kiwanian hitters to four hits and coasted to the easy triumph.

The affair might possibly have turned out different but for terrible fielding on the part of practically the entire Kiwanis team. The losers contributed a total of seven errors to the exciting proceedings and added the Hardware in its campaign for the city title in every manner possible.

The Hardware registered runs in every inning but two, the sixth and eighth while the Kiwanians got to Greenisen in only the first, when they earned two runs.

It was a disappointing and rather unexpected conclusion to the 1930 softball season here. The Kiwanians failed to play up to standards.

Salem Athlete Clears 13-Foot Mark In Pole Vault At A.A.U. Event

Lowell E. Allen, sturdy Salem youth whose name is written in the hall of athletic fame in world interscholastic track and field competition rode back into the spotlight when he cleared 13 feet in the pole vault to win second place in the junior division of the national Amateur Athletic Union meet at Pittsburgh Friday afternoon.

The Salem star finished runner-up to Marvin Harvey, Denver, Colo. Athletic club star, who cleared the cross bar at 13 ft. 1 inch to win first place and the national title while John Wonsowicz, of the Chicago Athletic club was third, clearing 12 ft. 9 in. Fourth place went to Marion R. Strong and Lee J. Phillips.

Allen will compete in the senior A. A. U. championship meet at the Pitt stadium this afternoon and is given a great opportunity to take a place after his great performance in the junior division. Included in the contestants today, however, are such nationally noted vaulters as Fred Sturdy of Yale, Tommy Warne, of Northwestern, Lee Barnes, Southern California and others.

The Salem star athlete, holder of the world interscholastic pole vault record of 13 ft. 3 3/16 in., surprised the entire field with his vaulting yesterday. Inactive for practically two years during which his participation in track and field athletics has been limited to intramural competition at Mount Union and the University of Michigan, he showed rare form and is expected to develop as one of America's outstanding vaulters before the year is out.

Now try
"Quick Vapor"
Ethyl!

SEVEN years ago General Motors Research Laboratories perfected Ethyl Fluid. Refiners Oil Company was the first to offer motorists a gasoline made with this remarkable new product—"Ethyl Gasoline." Now Refiners pioneers again—

Now we say . . . try "Quick Vapor" Ethyl!

Here are all the advantages of Ethyl gasoline plus higher volatility—a quicker vaporizing base. In tests, Refiners "Quick Vapor" Ethyl not only vaporized quicker, but also was vaporized at temperatures 27 degrees lower than the average of ten other leading Ethyl gasolines. It has the smooth, knockless "purr" characteristic of Ethyl, plus a quicker, more powerful "drive."

MADE WITH double Ethyl

And it has more than that—for to this new "Quick Vapor" base we have added a double quantity of Ethyl. This combination not only gives Refiners Ethyl unsurpassed anti-knock qualities, but makes it the first super-premium fuel ever offered to the public.

Because we believe that millions of motorists will want to use this new fuel, we are offering it at a price no greater than you pay for other Ethyl gasolines. You can now get this new gasoline—"Quick Vapor," plus double Ethyl, at all stations where Refiners Gasoline is sold.

THE REFINERS OIL COMPANY

An added advantage—
Double Ethyl

The knockless quality of Refiners Ethyl is not exceeded by any gasoline in the territory where it is sold . . . it is double Ethyl.

Motion Pictures Record Reunion

SALEM, Aug. 23.—A moving picture reunion was taken of the Frederick family at the county fair grounds, this being the fifth reunion since 1925. The first reunion was shown at this family reunion last year by Charles W. Frederick of Rochester, N. Y.

There were 140 people at this reunion, the oldest being Noah A. Frederick of East Liverpool, who is nearing his 90th year. The youngest was a two months' babe from Columbiana.

In addition to Frederick family members in Columbiana county and Ohio, others attended from California, Canada, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and York state.

COLUMBIANA

Miss Helen Keller has resigned her position with the Youngstown Business college, where she has been employed for the past two years, to accept one as secretary to Superintendent Otto Hasley of the schools of Ann Arbor, Mich.

In the Churches

First Presbyterian, East Second and Lundy streets, Raymond D. Walker, minister.

Sunday, Aug. 24

9:45 Bible school, Lee B. Vincent, Supt. Are your neighbors in Sunday school? Ask them to come to ours. Study with us of a Noble Friendship—that of David and Jonathan. Read 1st Samuel, chapters 12, 19, 20.

11—Morning worship, Arthur Walker, a younger brother of pastor, will preach the sermon. Arthur is at present the supply pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Wilmerding, Pa. He and his brother Raymond will graduate from Western Theological seminary of Pittsburgh in the spring of 1931. Arthur was a member of the varsity debating team at college. Aside from his liking for platform work, he also possesses a good tenor voice. A vocal duet by him and his brother will be another feature of the morning service. The title of the sermon is, "Christ's Influence on Moral Reality." After spending several days in Salem, Arthur will go to Fremont, O., where an older brother, Roy, is pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

A special offering will be received Sunday morning to help in the maintenance of the Old Ladies Home at Sidney, O. This is a decidedly worthy and deserving cause. Come prepared to help.

The Holy Bible leaves no doubt in the mind of the reader that God is the friend of man. He is the enemy of sin and unrighteousness, but the friend of good and righteousness. Under this leadership of God, there is friendship among the members of the whole human race. The best example of friendship between men is that of David and Jonathan. It surmounted the trials and tests of their day. It arose above the selfish spirit of King Saul. That is friendship. It should be as gold, out of which all the dross and impurity are purged. Friendship should not flourish and decay when changing conditions and trials are seeking to destroy it. True friendship is to be greatly appreciated. It may be an anchor to which our storm-tossed lives may be safely anchored.

LACK OF WATER ENDS ROAD WORK

Stream Dries Up And No Other Source Of Supply Is Available

SUMMITVILLE, Aug. 23.—Pouring of concrete on the Summitville-Kensington road in Franklin township has been suspended because of the scarcity of water.

The only available source of supply of water for this road surfacing project was Brush run, a tributary of the West Fork of Beaver creek. This stream is dry, and the contractor, Harry M. Bates of Steubenville has been pumping water from holes in the stream beds. This source of water supply has also failed.

Work on this project will be resumed only when there is sufficient water in the stream. Over half this road has already been surfaced, and the project is being worked eastward toward this place.

INCOME TAXES MAY NOT RAISE

Word From Washington To Effect Chances Of Boost Slim

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Clouds on the financial sky lifted today with word from the White House and the treasury that prospects were good for continuing the present one per cent reduction in income taxes.

No promise was made, but President Hoover said prediction of a deficit that would prevent continuing the reduction was unwarranted and Secretary Mellon added there was a "probability" the lower schedule authorized by congress for this year was not made continuing, new legislation will have to be passed or the previous higher rates will return.

The two statements late yesterday followed earlier pessimistic forecasts by treasury experts. Publication of these gloomy reports brought a round of conferences and the optimistic announcements followed.

History, which is indeed little more than the register of the crimes, follies and misfortunes of mankind.—Gibbon

MOVIES

Comedy predominates in the program of talking pictures announced for next week at the State and Grand theaters. Included in the week's array of productions are "Free and Easy," "Wide Open," and "Be Yourself."

While humor holds sway for at least five days of the week at the two theaters, really serious productions are also included in the bill.

"Born Reckless," featuring Edmund Lowe in another gangster role, Vilma Banky in "A Lady To Love" and the Bill Dove-Basil Rathbone epus, "A Notorious Affair" are listed in the latter category.

"Be Yourself" is the week's opening feature at the State. It stars Miss Bruce, Robert Armstrong and Harry Green, the famous Hebrew character who is one of moviedom's outstanding comedy actors.

Cast As Fight Manager

The story concerns Miss Bruce's ventures into the professional prize-fighting racket as the manager of the luckless Armstrong. As a fight impresario the heroine climbs to the top and makes the same progress in the romance which is one of the highlights of the plot. Green is cast as Armstrong's trainer.

Catherine Dale Owen plays opposite Lowe in "Born Reckless," in which the latter plays the part of Louis Beretti, a gangster who goes "over there" and comes home to "go straight" but nevertheless is drawn into his old racket once more. The picture has a tragic ending which only adds to its interesting elements and is one of Lowe's greatest pictures.

Basil Rathbone who attempted to replace William Powell in the S. S. Van Dine murder mysteries, brought a great failure in Sherlock Holmes roles is cast in a part to which he is best suited in "A Notorious Affair." Kay Francis, Hollywood's best dressed woman, Montague Love and Kenneth Thompson are in supporting characterizations with Miss Dove as the leading lady.

It is the story of the attempts of the wife of a musical genius to hold him against the affections of an unscrupulous woman, played by Miss Francis.

Patsy Ruth Miller, Louise Fazenda and Horton portray leading roles in "Wide Open," another of Horton's humorous stories of how humor mouse is made into a master of men and women in which he takes what he wants, namely Miss Miller, and hangs on to it in face of opposition offered by her flock of other suitors.

"Wide Open" is one of the two attractions playing at the Grand Monday and Tuesday. "A Notorious Affair" is the other.

Talking Comedy

"Free and Easy" is probably the outstanding picture on the week's program. It is a talking comedy which includes what is probably the greatest collection of screen celebrities used in a similar vehicle. William Haines, Robert Montgomery, Karl Dane, Gwen Lee, Buster Keaton, Anita Page and many other noted Hollywood stars are cast in the play.

"A Lady to Love" is a great human interest tale. Vilma Banky, the beautiful Hungarian actress is the star while Edward G. Robinson and Robert Ames are in supporting roles. It is the type of picture which doesn't click with the average theatergoer but which, nevertheless, must be given a place in the front rank with other great pictures of the year.

Robinson's portrayal of an old man whom Miss Banky marries is one of the highlights.

William Haines in "The Girl Said No" is at the State and "Good Intentions" with Edmund Lowe, starring, plays the Grand tonight.
